Volunteer Conduct and Service. Volunteers are expected to represent ABC to others with professionalism and courtesy and shepherd the resources of ABC responsibly. Volunteers are asked to not contact organizations or individuals on behalf of the Association unless given express authorization to do so. ABC accepts the service of all volunteers with the understanding that such service is at the sole discretion of the Association. You agree that ABC may at any time, for whatever reason, decide to terminate your volunteer relationship with ABC. Volunteers who do not adhere to the rules and procedures of ABC, or who fail to satisfactorily perform their volunteer assignment, are subject to dismissal.

Intellectual Property. You assign to ABC all rights, title and interest in and to any information or material developed, conceived or created by you as part of your service to the Association, including any and all materials subject to copyright.

Confidentiality. In connection with your ABC service, you may be given or have access to the confidential information of ABC or third parties ("Confidential Information"). Confidential Information is all information that ABC considers to be confidential or proprietary information of ABC or third party sources. You agree that you will not disclose or permit to be disclosed any Confidential Information, and that you will not appropriate or in any fashion replicate any Confidential Information without the prior written consent of ABC

Conflict of Interest. All volunteers of ABC must act at all times in the best interests of ABC and not for personal or third-party gain or financial enrichment. When encountering potential conflicts of interest, you must disclose the potential conflict to the Association and, as required, remove yourself from all discussion and action on the matter. When in doubt as to whether a potential conflict may exist, ask a ABC leader.

Release. You assume full and complete responsibility for any personal injury and/or property damage sustained or caused by you during your participation as a volunteer. In addition, you hereby release, hold harmless and covenant not to file suit against ABC, its employees, agents, sponsors, Board members or affiliates, in relation to any and all loss, liability or claims you may have arising out of your service as a volunteer.

You acknowledge and agree that your selection for service to ABC and the opportunities made available to you by serving ABC constitute consideration for entering into this Agreement, the receipt and sufficiency of which you hereby acknowledge.
